

Lawson's Dry Hills Estate Pinot Rose 2019

The Story

Established in 1992, Lawson's Dry Hills are a talented yet humble bunch with just a little of the pioneering rebel spirit running in their veins, a sort of 'what you see is what you get'. There's no pretense, nothing flashy, just the team and what they need to make wines that they like to drink and share.

From nurturing the grapes in their vineyards through to bottling, their autonomy gives the small, hands-on team flexibility and full control. The end results? Expressive, award-winning wines that are an authentic representation of the grape variety and the land from which they are grown.

The Vineyard

Made from 100% Pinot Noir grown at our coastal Chaytors Road vineyard at the Wairau Diversion. Harvested in early March at 21.5 brix, specifically for this rosé.

Winemaking

The grapes were pressed immediately, settled overnight and then fermented with a special yeast for Rosé from the south of France. This yeast specifically highlights the natural berry fruit characters, contributing to the amazing aromas and flavours that make this wine so attractive.

Tasting Note

Spiritually, the mandala pattern is said to help transform ordinary minds into enlightened ones, while the shape symbolises balance and perfection. Pink represents compassion and glamour while silver is said to restore balance.

Mouth-watering, lifted aromas of ripe strawberries with lovely floral notes. The palate is ripe, juicy, fruity and dry. This is an immensely drinkable wine with plenty of character and depth.
